CREATING A BETTER FUTURE

At Kimberly-Clark, we place the consumer at the center of everything we do. This enables us to lead the market and achieve profitable and sustainable growth, thus generating world class talent and building lasting relations with our stakeholders.

It is my pleasure to present to you the third Kimberly-Clark Report on Social Responsibility and Sustainability for the Central American and the Caribbean region, which leadership I assumed on April 2012.

The present Executive Summary has the purpose to demonstrate our firm commitment to society and the stakeholders who have kindly supported this initiative with their feedback and comments. This Report shows the way we have conducted our business and the results obtained for 2011 and 2012.

Opportunities for all

Workplace Inclusion Program in Guatemala

In 2012 we formed an alliance with the Neurological Institute of Guatemala in order to implement the pilot project of workplace inclusion of 9 people that have intellectual disabilities within the company's processes.

By January 2013, it was established as a program, after obtaining the Social Responsibility Award granted by the American Chamber of Commerce in Guatemala.

Vendors and Distributors

Strengthening our Value Chain

We do not only focus on the possibilities of improving the company, but also on the opportunities that we offer to our vendors and distributors.

Training activities and advisory to vendors

- Logistics
- Quality Control
- Legal Paperwork
- Safety and Occupational Hygiene

Promoting integrity

Kimberly-Clark makes efforts to instruct their suppliers on anticorruption issues. Annually, it tracks this down through a written commitment from each supplier.

Warranty and credibility in our operations

We promote safe practices in our supply chain through drug detectors, GPS systems and engagement with local and government authorities, in order to prevent our operations from being used to commit illegal acts.

Recycling Program: LinKC

This specialized service project has been in development since 2012 to be implemented as a pilot plan in Costa Rica in 2013. It brings together the efforts of various internal areas of the company, with our contributors in the area of fiber collection, distribution partners and end customers. This dynamic will allow us to capture recyclable materials where customers will accumulate “ecological points” that can be exchanged for products or services such as specialized training in solid waste management.

Living Well

- Medical and ergonomic examinations to drivers in Costa Rica, El Salvador and Dominican Republic.
- Conditioning of unloading areas, with showers and eating areas

Year	Number of suppliers	Payments to suppliers	National suppliers

Innovations in 2011 - 2012

We continue to innovate and offer products that adapt to the needs of consumers.

- Huggies Active Sec:

provides baby diapers packaged individually.

- Disposable diapers 1, 2 and “pull ups”: ideal for fussy babies that start to walk on their own or with help of others. It is the only diaper that can be placed and adjusted as panties and removed as a diaper.

- Kotex Black: new generation of tampons, panty liners and ultrathin pads with excellent performance and modern and colorful designs.

- Poise: is the most comprehensive line of solutions for women in menopause. The category includes products for bladder weakness, intimate care and hot flashes.

- Plenitud: new incontinence protection underwear for men and women. It is the first and unique underwear made of Cotton Flex, an innovative material that feels and looks like cotton.

- Scott Smell Clean: encapsulates and softens the bad odor molecules present in the bathroom trash can. The fragrance in the cardboard roll counteracts the odors.

- Scott Triple Layer: this product provides superior absorption, increased performance and smoothness.

- KCP Hydroknit and Airflex: technologies that ensure greater absorption and paper strength, offering better performance and savings.

- KCP WYPALL: these products incorporate Microban technology which inhibits the growth of bacteria, mold and fungi.

Scott in harmony with the environment

Toilet paper and kitchen towels:

- They are produced from recycled fibers.
- The cone is made of recycled material and is recyclable.
- The polyethylene product in which it is packaged is also recyclable.

Interacting with our consumers

Our brands offer educational support in areas directly linked to the realities of those who choose our products.

- “100 Primeros días” (100 first days):

provides advice and training on baby and mother care, before and after birth. 151 hospitals were visited and donations in the amount of USD $338 were made.

- “AmaZonas”: Huggies and Scentia joined efforts to develop a socio-economic program to benefit more than 40 thousand women working in catalog sales for the pharmaceutical business in Central America. This is already in operation in Honduras and Guatemala with the purpose to:

1. Generate additional income to the sales force through the direct commercialization of Huggies Active Sec diapers.

2. Provide training related to baby care and mother health-care during pregnancy and breast feeding period.

3. Offer additional diaper bonuses to those sales representatives with children between 0 and 3 years of age.

- “Entre Chicas” (Among Young Girls): Talks were held in educational centers in the areas of the female cycle and changes female adolescents go through. Only in Costa Rica, the program will impact more than 20 thousand female children in 2013.

- “Club Plenitud” (Plenitud Club):

Several training and recreational activities took place in areas related to health and quality of life of the elderly population. The program benefited more than 500 people in Costa Rica.

- “La salud está en tus manos” (The health is in your hands):

Through an investment of USD $ 35,000, this program educated more than 25 thousand people and 600 customers on proper hand washing techniques as the main weapon to prevent disease between 2011 and 2012. The Costa Rican Ministry of Health fully supported the program in order to motivate, educate and instill work site hygiene good practices in the workers of different companies.

- “Gestión Industrial y el Guardián Jackson” (Industrial Management and Guardian Jackson):

This is a new platform that provides detection/identification of areas, zones or regions that represent work risks in order to reduce the number of accidents.

- “Sostenibilidad” (Sustainability):

This program promotes recycling initiatives in companies through the exchange of collected paper for finished products from the institutional line.

PLANET

Making decisions today, preserving the future

We are fully committed to the environment because we understand its importance for future generations and the sustainability of the business. All our operations are handled with the intention to create value for the business without losing sight of the responsible use of the planet resources.

Water savings equivalent to 73 olympic swimming pools.

Total energy savings equivalent to the average annual consumption of 6,900 households.

The amount of water used per each produced ton was 16.4% less with respect to 2011.

4,700 tons less of CO2 emissions in 2012 vs 2011.

0% of production waste goes to the landfill in Costa Rica, El Salvador and Dominican Republic.

Instilling the culture of recycling

Forest Friendly is the corporate program that promotes the use of certified, recycled and alternative fibers. The virgin fiber is purchased from certified forests.

Kimberly-Clark invested USD $ 208 thousand in recycling programs in Central American & the Caribbean between 2011 and 2012. A total of 126 thousand tons of paper were recycled in 2012 for the production of new tissue products. .

47 thousand seeds

were donated to the Bosque Urbano Program of the Municipality of San José. One thousand trees have been planted in the AmbientaDOS Forest in Coris, Cartago.

This program was established on March 2009 as a partnership between Kimberly-Clark and a TV Channel. It is a recycling and reforestation program. The program contributes to the socio-economic development of NGO's and Small and Medium Enterprises in the area of recycling.

Recollected:

8,560 MT of recyclable material = 1,223 waste loaded trucks

This program was established in October 2010 and was developed by Kimberly-Clark in partnership with our customer Walmart and 4 other companies. It has made possible to collect more than 120 tons of recyclable material in the 6 gathering points between 2010 and 2012.

Corporate Partners of Recycling in Costa Rica

Through 60 mutually convenient agreements, Kimberly-Clark collects paper from companies, certifies its responsible disposal and in turn, companies comply with their responsible environment management requirements and in addition, receive finished products with our Kimberly-Clark Professional brand. This has translated into savings in the purchase of personal hygiene products for the associates' use.

ALIANZA
para el Aprovechamiento de Residuos
Valorizables en Costa Rica

Since 2012, Kimberly-Clark partnered with other recycling and waste collecting companies in order to put forward joint actions to promote the culture of recycling.

Among some of the actions undertaken, work has been conducted in search of options to reduce logistical costs of recycling materials and public-private partnerships.

This alliance has been in effect for two years and has strengthened the position of recycling companies in view of the country's changes in legislation.

El Salvador

Vidas del
papel
El reciclaje divertido

343 alliances: private businesses, government institutions, educational centers and NGO's as gathering centers for paper.

90 monthly tons of recyclable material, 52% is exchanged for Kimberly-Clark products. More than 600 talks in the area of recycling were held.

Tetrapack is another post-consumption material that is being used for the production of paper products. More than one thousand tons were collected throughout the region in 2012.

Guatemala

- Partnerships to contribute to improve living conditions for the Guatemalan society through education and humanitarian assistance, such as the NGO "Fundaniñas" in which K-C paid for 35 enrollment fees for female children of that institution.

This program has the support from the city's municipality and has allowed to:

- Train 900 municipal employees and 1,200 school children from low income families in the area of recycling.
- Collect 3,427 tons of recyclable material in 2012.
- Children's Museum: more than 120.000 children have been instructed in the area of recycling.

Nicaragua

Recycling Program with "Los Pipitos"

The partnership between Kimberly-Clark and "Los Pipitos" Association (which provides services to more than 1,500 children, adolescents and youngsters with some deficiencies or disabilities) has generated substantial recognition at national level. This program consists on collecting paper from 250 institutions which generates income to the Association.
